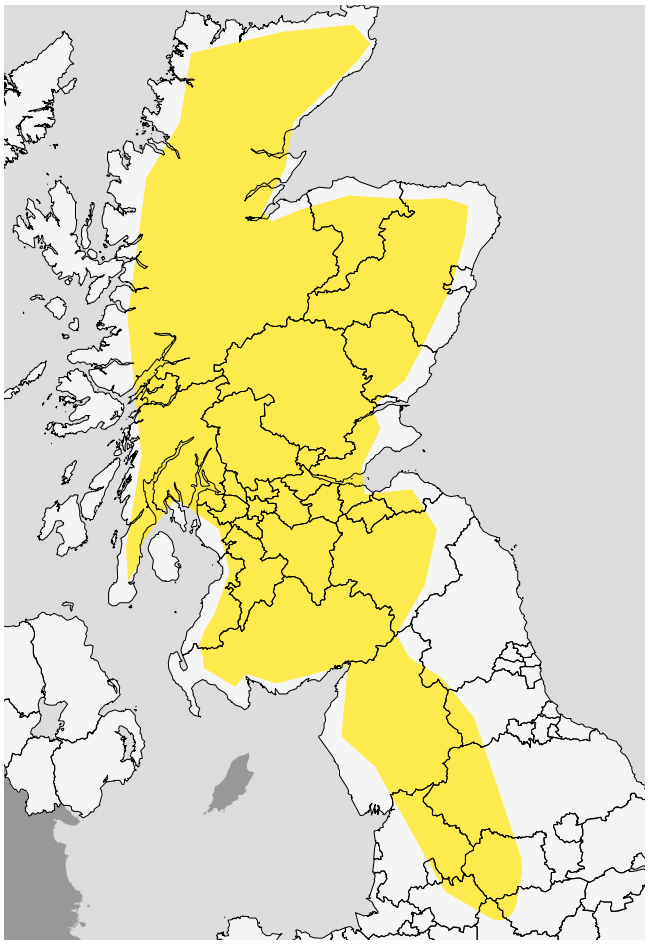
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
20:00 Thu 24 Feb 2022 and
09:30 Fri 25 Feb 2022



Further wintry showers, with snowfall mainly on hills, will lead to icy surfaces, perhaps making for difficult travel conditions tonight.

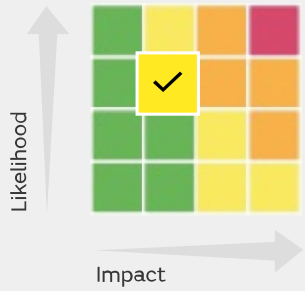
What to expect

- Probably icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths, leading to an increased chance of accidents and injuries
- Some roads, and possibly railways, could be affected by longer journey times, particularly those roads crossing higher ground

Further details

Further areas of rain, sleet and hail, with snow mainly at elevations above around 200-300 metres, are likely to affect many areas this evening. These will be heavy in places, perhaps bringing 2-5 cm of snow to some of the higher routes across the Pennines and Scotland.

Beyond midnight, showers will become less widespread and will fall increasingly as rain or sleet away from some higher routes and parts of northern Scotland. However as temperatures fall, icy stretches are possible more widely, especially on untreated surfaces.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts
